[insert date]

[Insert Chapter name] is seeking financial donations to support American Indigenous Business Leaders and our affiliated Student Chapter through a fundraising campaign called Diversify Your Donation.

50% of your contribution to American Indigenous Business Leaders goes directly back to our AIBL Student Chapter to support leadership development, community giveback, and event fundraising efforts. 100% of your donation is tax-deductible, and 100% of your donation impacts Indigenous students across the United States.

The American Indigenous Business Leaders (AIBL) organization is the only Indigenous non-profit solely dedicated to empowering business students. AIBL programs engage students in activities that stimulate, enhance, and expand educational experiences beyond traditional academic methods. AIBL's programming is designed to empower the Indigenous spirit through business leadership in four specific areas: education, experience, leadership, and culture. Last year alone, AIBL supported over 400 students from 47 tribal nations, with 41 active Student Chapters across 19 states.

AIBL Student Chapters are designed to help facilitate the overall goals of AIBL. Chapters are student groups at high schools, tribal colleges (TCUs), and universities, providing leadership development, career and college guidance, and networking through educational activities, community service projects, and social activities. Chapters are a support system to help students facilitate the transition of being away from home while attending school. Each Chapter is led by an AIBL advisor who works closely with members to help organize, recruit, mentor, and lead Chapter meetings and activities.
